

IEEE Registration Authority IEEE Std 1609.2.1 CtlSeriesId Application

The CtlSeriesId is an identifier specified in IEEE Std 1609.2.1 and used to identify a temporal series of Certificate Trust Lists (CTLs), where each CTL in the series succeeds and updates the information in the previous CTL. A CTL records the list of root Certificate Authority (CA) certificates that are trusted by an SCMS Manager. These root CAs have agreed to follow and enforce the certificate policies and practices of that SCMS Manager. The SCMS Manager also appoints a group of Electors. Each Elector in the group provides a signature on the CTL contents, enabling other participants in the system to trust the CTL.

The CTL also contains information necessary for the perpetuation of future versions of the CTL: the Elector certificates to be used to sign the next CTL in the series, and the “quorum,” which is the minimum number of valid Elector signatures on the next CTL that must be known to any participant in the system for that participant to consider that CTL valid.

The CtlSeriesId is an identifier of the CTL series. It is required to be globally unique and so its allocation is managed by the IEEE RA. CtlSeriesId was previously known as ElectorGroupId. On June 30, 2022, the registry previously known as 'ElectorGroupId' was renamed 'CtlSeriesId', with all CtlSeriesId assignments carried forward as ElectorGroupId assignments.

The assignee of an CtlSeriesId is known as the SCMS Manager of that CtlSeriesId.

For more details, see IEEE Std 1609.2.1 or the tutorial on this site.

This form can be used to request that an CtlSeriesId value be assigned, with the applicant to serve as the assigned SCMS Manager.

The application can be emailed or mailed to the Registration Authority.

The review and approval process will be completed in less than 30 days. If the application is placed on hold for any reason, the applicant has 30 days to rectify the problem. If the problem is not rectified within 30 days, the application will be terminated, and the applicant can re-apply once the issue has been resolved. An assignment is made and communicated to the applicant within 7 business days of approval and received payment.

At the current time, anonymous allocation of CtlSeriesId is not permitted: all allocations are recorded in the public registry.

Make sure that all sections of the form are completed.
